Blaine's Letter Rejecting European Mediation.

Provisions of the Agricultural Appropriation Bill.

The Chinese Mission Offered to J. Russell Young.

AGRICULTURAL APPROPRIATIONS.

WASHINGTON, February 17.—Among the provisions of the agricultural appropriation bill are: For the purchase, propagation and distributing of seeds, $80,000; investigating diseases of domestic animals, $25,000, continuing investigation as to the insects injurious to agriculture, 25,000, for examination of wool and animal fibre, $10,000, for collecting data respecting agricultural needs of the country west of the Rocky mountains, 5,000, to enable commissioner to investigate and report upon the subject of forestry, $5,000; to continue investigation in that section of country where the Rocky mountain locusts are supposed to breed with a view to reporting the amount of damage likely to be inflicted in the Mississippi valley, $5000.

THE BLAINE CORRESPONDENCE.

NEW YORK, February 17.—The Times' Washington correspondent furnishes some further diplomatic correspondence. Our minister at Paris (Morton) wrote the American government that President Grevy was anxious, with England, to join in mediation on Peru-Chili matter. Blaine wrote Morton in reply:

DEPARTMENT OF STATE,
WASHINGTON, Sept. 5, 1881.

SIR—I have to acknowledge reception of your dispatch number sixty of date August 11, 1881, giving account of your interview on day previous with the president of the republic, in regard to the attitude and correspondent relations of France, Great Britain and the United States with the South American states Chili and Peru. The remarks made and suggestions offered by President Grevy concerning the sad state of affairs in Peru have received that careful and respectful consideration due to utterances of so eminent a statesman and chief magistrate of France. I hasten to say that this government agrees with him in profoundly deploring the disorders and sufferings that have already fallen upon, and others that continue to impend over the people of Peru, and fully shares the humane and enlightened sentiments which have inspired in him personal interest in that unfortunate struggle, and have induced him to suggest concerted effort by France, Great Britain and the United States to bring the conflict to an end. Such interventions are frequent in European diplomatic history, and have sometimes been followed by beneficial results in preserving the equilibrium of power, but the United States has not belonged to that system of states of which France and Great Britain are such important members, and has never participated in the adjustment of their contentions. Neither interest nor inclination leads this country to have a voice in the discussion of those questions; but our relations to states of the American continent are widely different and the situation is so nearly reversed that this government, while appreciating the high and disinterested motive that inspired the suggestion, is constrained to gravely doubt the expediency of uniting with European powers to intervene, either by material pressure or by moral or political influence, in affairs of the American states. These republics are young sisters of this government. Their proximity of situation, similarity in origin and form of government, unity of political interests and their geographical remoteness from Europe, have naturally given to American states close and speedy relations to each other, and in course of time removed them further from the European system. The interests, commercial and political, of the United States on this continent transcend in extent and importance those of any other power, and while these immense interests are deeply involved, this government must preserve a position where its influence will be most independent and efficient. In the contest between Peru and Chili, the United States has watched the progress of the struggle with painful interest, and endeavored, as opportunity offered, to arrange terms of peace; and you will say to the French government that the interest which the president has manifested for the cause of peace, and his sympathy with the unhappy victims of the war, find an earnest response here from the government. The people of the United States decline to enter into negotiations with European powers for a joint intervention in the affairs of Chili and Peru.

[Signed] J. G. BLAINE.

PORTER'S POSITION.

The cabinet to-day considered the Fitz John Porter case. It is stated the only legal redress is for the president to pardon Porter, thus removing disqualifications from holding office, and then restore him to the army by nomination.

TRADE DOLLAR REDEMPTION.

The house banking and currency committee to-day decided to report favorably a substitute for the trade dollar bill, which provides for the redemption of the trade with the standard, the redeemed trade dollar to be regarded as bullion and to go in on the monthly purchases. The amount subject to exchange will be nine million dollars.

APPORTIONMENT BILL.

The house after a very lively debate passed the apportionment bill fixing the number of representatives at 325. The bill states that if any new states shall be admitted their representation shall be in excess of the 325. The bill also provides for the manner of electing the representatives.

WASHINGTON NOTES.

The president nominated Wakefield G. Frye, of Maine, United States consul general at Halifax, and Horatio N. Beach, of New York, consul at Puerto Cabello, Venezuela.

The grand jury has commenced the investigation of the star-route service in Oregon.

The postal savings bank bill will be reported favorably to the house.

Jennings, of Boston, has filed a bill for $5,000 for the construction of a cooling apparatus in the executive mansion during the illness of President Garfield.

It is said to-day on high authority that the position of United States minister to China was some time ago offered to John Russell Young, and that he had accepted.

A memorial, numerously signed by merchants of San Francisco, asking that steps be taken for the release of McSweeny of that city, an American citizen now confined in an English jail, has been received by the California delegation in congress and forwarded by them to the secretary of state, with their added request that the subject be given early investigation and attention.

PUEBLO'S CELEBRATION.

It Promises to be One of the Grandest Carnivals Ever Held in the West.

SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.

PUEBLO, February 17.—Immense preparations have been made here for the reception of his highness, the Prince Carnival, in this city to-morrow. Reduced rates have been procured on all the railroads, and preparations have been made for the accommodation of a large number of guests from the neighboring cities. It is estimated that over 200 business firms will participate in the carnival and some of the displays will be very elaborate. Mayor Richmond will extend a welcome to the Prince Carnival, and present him with a key to the gates of the city with appropriate speeches. From the present outlook it will be one of the grandest pictures ever seen on wheels in the west.

STICKNEY TRIAL.

The Prisoner Indulges in a Guiteau Outbreak.

DENVER, February 17.—In the latter part of the afternoon Attorney Jerome of the prosecution in answer to objection of counsel for the defense to certain testimony, said they proposed to prove by witness that Stickney knew of the intimacy between his wife and Campen, and that such had already been very clearly shown by the evidence. Suddenly the prisoner arose from his seat and shouted: "You are a liar!" and with fists clenched tight advanced towards Jerome. He was quickly overpowered and quieted. Great excitement prevailed in the court for a few moments and the court said the prisoner should be taken to the jail instead of the hotel in the future, and that in case of another outbreak would be manacled; but on appeal of counsel for defense decided to allow physicians to examine as to the cause of the outbreak before having the order executed.

RUSSIAN OUTRAGES.

Inhuman Cruelties Practiced on Russian Jews.

LONDON, February 17.—A correspondent at Vienna vouches for the truth of the statement that in Elizabethgrad, Kieff, Odessa, Mesegend, Peesat, Konna and Prioslav, over 250 women were outraged by Jew baiters. During the disturbances at Kieff, General Dreutcher when appealed to for protection said it was not worth while to risk the soldiers' lives. At Odessa, petroleum was poured on a man's head and set on fire, and the man died in great agony. Many children were mercilessly killed.

A Vienna dispatch says fresh anti-Jewish disturbances are reported in the government of Kieff. The military governor general, Count Todleben, declined to interfere without special instructions from St. Petersburg, a refusal which produced a painful impression among the orderly population.

Fatal Accident.

GEORGETOWN, Col., February 17.—C. G. Erikson, a Swede, was badly injured while at work on the railroad grade this afternoon while removing the tamping from a shot which failed to explode. His right eye was knocked out and his skull was fractured. He cannot recover.

The Champion's Challenge.

NEW YORK, February 17.—Champion Sullivan writes a letter to the Herald, in which he says: Ryan dubs me a slugger and excuses his defeat by saying he was suffering from hernia and that had it not been for this and a variety of other reasons he would have won the fight.—Paddy considers that had he been able to hold out a few more rounds he would have won. I will simply say to Mr. Paddy Ryan if he has any desire to meet me again I will give him $500 to spar me four rounds on Marquis of Queensbury rules, with soft gloves at any of my exhibitions. If I do not succeed in stopping him in four rounds I will pay him the above mentioned sum. I challenge him to spar me with boxing gloves, stating the number of rounds, the result to be decided by the greater number of clean hits. I will wager $1,000 that I can defeat him in a fight of this description, the meeting to take place in a building in New York city and the winner to take admission receipts in addition to stakes.

Mining Market.

NEW YORK, February 17.—Mining stocks are active and irregular. The chief interest centred in Robinson, which opened at $3.45 advanced to $3.70 and closed at $2.60. State Lines Nos. 2 and 3 were largely dealt in at 73 to 69, closing at 72; Nos. 1 and 4 dull, 15 to 19, closing at 16. Chrysolite declined from $4.00 to $3.70. Reese advanced from $1.60 to $1.75. South Pacific dull, $2.70 to $2.55. Total sales at both exchanges, 225,640 shares.

PERUVIAN COMPANY.

State Correspondence Asked for by Congress.

Shepherd's List of His Alleged Associates.

Some Inconsistent Views of Blaine's Position.

WASHINGTON, February 17.—The resolution, in response to which correspondence was sent to the house, was offered in the house for the purpose of disclosing names of parties supposed to be interested in the Peruvian company, which had been withheld by the state department when correspondence was sent to the senate some days ago.

In a letter to Minister Hurlbut, dated New York, June 2, 1881, Shepherd says: "Among representative gentlemen with whom I have already, or shall be soon, in confidential negotiation in the premises I may name such as these: E. D. Morgan, W. E. Dodge, Hugh McCullough, Norvin Green, W. R. Garrison, A. Belmont, S. B. Chittenden, John Hay, Amos A. Stone, W. H. Vanderbilt, John Sherman, Eugene Hale, Murat Halstead, Whitelaw Reid, Fisk & Hatch, Samuel Sloan, Marshall Jewell, H. L. Dawes, S. D. Babcock, John A. Stewart, Jay Cooke, Southmayd & Choate, U. S. Grant, A. A. Lowe, J. H. Wade, H. B. Payne, Horace White, David Davis, Joseph Medill, H. B. Hyde, W. S. Hewitt, W. L. Scott, J. D. Cameron, Howard Crosby, Hobson Hurlbut, Sidney Dillon, Morton, Bliss & Co., H. B. Claflin, Henry Hilton, J. and W. Seligman & Co., M. K. Jessup & Co., Drexel, Morgan & Co., Wm. W. Astor, Horace Caswell, Representative Belmont.

Under date of New York, October 10th, 1881, Shepherd writes Secretary Blaine and says: I have to-day addressed you copies of letters to the Peruvian minister and Hon. Marcial Martinez, originals of which have been transmitted to Hon. George S. Boutwell, counsel of this company, at Washington, to to deliver to their respective addresses.

Under date of New York, Oct. 17, 1881, Shepherd writes Minister Hurlbut: For your own satisfaction I may say that our staff of counsel, including such representatives as Governor Boutwell, Senator Eaton, Senator Conkling, Collector Robertson, ex Congressman Lord and Senator Blair are absolutely agreed on this and every other point material to pending issues; and the most radical suggestions of policy have the hearty autograph approval of General Grant, who is now one of us. The significance of all this you need no aid from me to estimate. It occurs to me, to quote your recent correspondence: "The moment we heard here of the decree of September 28th, I wrote Senator Blair. The bearing of all these interests Chili sees as clearly as I. If there is no Peruvian government to admit our rights and so to establish them. The continuance of Calderon for the time being is vital, you see, to all we have at stake, and such interests as ours should easily decide Secretary Blaine, if aside from that he hesitates." In yours of September 25 you said you had received no such dispatches as Secretary Blaine assured me had been sent. The next time I was at the department the secretary placed in my hands all the dispatches he had sent you, and I read for myself. The phrasing is his own, but the effect is exactly what I desired. If Calderon is wise he will make Mr. Tracy, the present counsel here, his minister plenipotentiary to operate with Blaine and myself here as you are working with him there. No other commissioners are needed. Tracy is ideal in his Peruvian loyalty. When we first bought this title he saw three markets for it, and of these three Chili was not the least promising. Of the merits of the original quarrel we know nothing and care nothing. Peru is the under dog, and our sympathies lie with her. There are strong reasons why we should prefer to deal with her, otherwise we should not make her the first offer. But certainly we have not bought this great interest to lay it at the feet of Peru to use or refuse as she may choose. We have rights as well as she, and at least abundant alternatives if Peru wishes to challenge us to use them. Of these Chili is one, and is only suggested to make clear the general fact that we have at least one alternative. I need not dwell on this point, and Mr. Calderon can follow it out for himself. If Calderon wishes speed he can have it. We are ready whenever he is ready. The moment he cables me the proper assurance, he will hear me respond like an echo. My telegraph address is Jacket, New York. It might be better still for you to cable Mr. Blaine in cipher.

Under date Lima, Peru, Nov. 2, 1881, Minister Hurlbut writes Blaine: Sir—I was surprised by receiving telegram from you dated the 29th, which when deciphered read as follows: "The influence of your position must not be used in aid of the Credit Industrial or any other financial or speculating association." To this I immediately answered: "It has not been; I will not be."

Under date of New York, November 15, 1881, Shepherd writes Minister Hurlbut: Sir Senator Blair writes me: "Hurlbut telegraphs Chilians have captured Calderon and carried him to Chili." The senator adds: "There may be trouble now. Have General Grant do his duty. American influence in America is at an end if Chili can slap our faces as flatly as this. We have heard also by cable of Monterey's acceptance. We appreciate the gravity of the new issues."

CONDITION OF BUSINESS.

Review of the Week's Transactions in New York.

NEW YORK, February 17.—The following is a review of the condition of trade in New York for the week ending to-day. So many disturbing elements have been at work that trade generally is somewhat depressed, with a downward tendency in prices in sympathy with the tumble in the great staples of cotton, grain and provisions. The money market in Wall street continues easy, and call loans have ranged from 3 to 5 per cent., with occasional pressure to 6 per cent. during busy hours. Time loans have ruled at 4 to 5 per cent. on government bonds, and 5 to 6 per cent. on stocks. The stock market has been unsatisfactory all through the week. A few of the fancy stocks have been made to fluctuate somewhat, but steady, interest-paying securities have generally held their own. Foreign exchange is a little easier. There have been some shipment of silver bars, but there is no talk of any more gold being shipped at present. Demand for exchange has been rather dull in the last day or two.

The course of the dry goods business has been somewhat irregular and the demand for seasonable goods is sluggish, owing to the inclemency of the weather. The jobbing trade is only fairly active as yet and the spring trade opens slowly.

There has been a steady and rapid decline in wheat during the past week until it has reached a price at which there are buyers for export. The result is that the market is steady at the close at some advance upon last prices. Corn has followed the course of wheat, but the decline has not been as large.

The volume of business has been enormous, and transactions aggregate a larger amount than was ever known in the produce exchange since its establishment. Lard and pork have been weak. There has been a decline all around and the market closes barely steady.

Cotton has followed the course of other speculative products. There has been a considerable decline and partial recovery, and closing with the market probably twenty per cent. lower than it was a week ago.

Business has been large, and calls for wool have been regular and steady, with a slight advance in finer grades of fleece. Manufacturers are fairly well supplied, and show no disposition to buy more than what is requisite for the supply of their immediate wants. Feeling in the trade is good.

The amount of business in petroleum has been moderate, with some fluctuations. The general condition of the market is weak and closing barely steady.

On account of the increased demand for grain room freights advanced in this description of tonnage, and the market closes strong.

Manufacturers are receiving a fair amount of orders for spring goods.

The demand for Brazil grades of coffees is slightly better and the market is stronger. Milder grades are in fair consumptive demand and prices steady. Fair cargoes are nominally 9½. Sugars are in demand. Invoices of tea are quiet, but the consumptive demand is beginning to be pretty good and prices continue firm and a shade better.

The English Calamity.

LONDON, February 17.—Forty bodies have been recovered from the colliery at Trindon Grange, Durham, where the explosion occurred yesterday. It is feared forty men still remaining in the pit are dead.

Russian Refugees.

PHILADELPHIA, February 17.—The old Pennsylvania railroad depot has been fitted up as a temporary home for Jewish refugees. The steamer Illinois on its way here has on board 320 Russian refugees.

Military Inspection.

WASHINGTON, February 17. General Sherman, accompanied by General Pope and Colonel Morrow, will leave here the 1st of March for a tour inspection of the departments of Texas, New Mexico and Arizona, visiting all principal posts on the frontier of these states. Visits will also be paid to the Yosemite valley and San Francisco. The trip will occupy eight or ten weeks.

Mrs. Scoville's Appeal.

CHICAGO, February 17.—Mrs. Scoville was interviewed last night by a reporter of a city paper. She refused to state whether the letter published yesterday morning was written by her or not. A lady companion, however, said such a letter had been written by Mrs. Scoville.

CLEVELAND, February 17. Mrs. Scoville's letter praying for forgiveness for her brother, Guiteau, was delivered this morning to Mrs. Garfield.

MRS. GARFIELD'S REPLY.

CLEVELAND, February 17.—J. H. Rhodes, secretary of the Garfield monument committee, and a near friend of Mrs. Garfield, was interviewed by an Associated Press correspondent to-day. He said Mrs. Garfield received a letter from Mrs. Scoville this morning, and that he was authorized in her behalf to say that toward the slayer of her husband she cherishes no malice. He must answer only to his God and the American people. For the sister and all members of his family she feels only profound pity. Further than this she asks to be left alone with her sorrow, and to be spared being dragged into useless and torturing publicity. Mrs. Garfield will not answer the letter.

Cannel Coal in Iowa.

DES MOINES, February 17. Considerable excitement has been caused here by the discovery of an Iowa vein of pure cannel coal. For years fragmentary pieces of cannel coal have been found on the lower part of the Des Moines river, but the place of deposit could never be found. In the last few weeks it has been discovered in Red Creek township, Marion county, 30 miles below here. It was discovered on some farms by parties who were prospecting for coal. It is in a vein five feet thick, the lower two and one-half feet of which is pure cannel coal, and the other half of coal much resembling Blossburg coal. Large quantities of it were brought to this city to-day. It was tried by the gas company here and pronounced fully equal to the Virginia cannel coal.

APPALLING ACCIDENT.

Explosion of a Manufactory of Pyrotechnics.

Kills Fifteen and Wounds About Fifty More.

A Pennsylvania Town Converted Into a Hospital.

CHESTER, Pa., February 17.—About 8 o'clock this morning an explosion occurred at the pyrotechnic works of P. Jackson in this city. The building was badly shattered and took fire and was consumed. At least 15, probably more, lives were lost, and many dangerously wounded. The building is the old homestead of Admiral Porter. A number of colored families lived in the old Porter mansion. It seems it first took fire, and while firemen were playing on the flames and a large crowd surrounded the building the explosion occurred, scattering destruction far and wide. Number killed between fifteen and twenty; about twenty dangerously, and fifty more or less seriously wounded. The dead are being laid out in the city hall, and the wounded cared for in various drug stores, so no accurate list can be obtained now.

Following is the list of killed and wounded: Killed—John Lampleigh, Thomas Dallison, Thomas Anderson, Alex. Phillips, John Pollock, Joseph Kerner, George Taylor, Jas. Daugherty, Benjamin Gartside, Perry Williams (colored), Arthur Barber, Wm. Wood (fireman), John Dalers and Edward Strapschiere. All the killed lived here. Fifty more or less are wounded, three fatally.

Part of the mansion has been used by Prof. Jackson for some years as a place for manufacturing explosives. The firemen, after being assured there were explosives in the place, went to work. After playing on the flames for half an hour, a terrific explosion occurred. Bodies were thrown in all directions; the air was filled with rubbish and the ground covered with victims, some killed, some seriously injured and others badly hurt. Dead bodies of men lay on the ground; others labored in the agonies of death. A number writhing in their blood moaned and groaned piteously for help. Many lay insensible of their surroundings, and others bruised and bleeding groped their way from the scene of the terrible accident. People prayed in the open streets, and the shrieks of the dying were appalling. The fire was abandoned and everybody in condition to do so turned their attention to alleviating the distress. Houses in the vicinity of the explosion were converted into hospitals and the wounded were removed thereto.

CATHOLIC FAIR.

An Interesting Contest for the Gold-Headed Cane.

The attendance at the Catholic fair in Court House hall last evening was fully as large as upon the previous nights. Shares in the numerous articles to be raffled off to-night sold readily and a number of the books were closed.

The most important and exciting feature of the evening was the contest over the gold-headed cane which was to be voted to the most popular physician. At the close of the vote on Thursday night Dr. Hart led all other competitors but shortly after the opening of the vote, last evening the contest seemed to lay between Doctors Anderson and Bull. At ten o'clock, thirty minutes before the time set for the closing of vote, the black board on which the score was kept indicated the following:

Anderson	1,408
Bull	1,003
Hart	877
Davis	79
Strickler	30
Reed	20
Darisch	12
Hewitt	1

Between ten o'clock and ten fifteen but little voting was done, and many ventured to assert that the friends of Dr. Anderson had been too brash in increasing his score too much, and thus spoiling the fun, he having a lead of Dr. Bull by four hundred votes. At 10:20 Dr. Bull's vote was increased to fifteen hundred, thus giving him about one hundred majority over Dr. Anderson. The excitement became more and more intense as the time for closing the polls approached, and the respective friends of the two contestants were holding their money in reserve for the last moment. Only two minutes more to vote was announced by the timekeeper, and still no efforts were made on the part of either side to increase the score. One minute more was announced, and still no change. It was finally simmered down to one quarter of a minute, and then the excitement was at its height. Votes were cast in five hundred and thousand lots, and when time was called the result was as follows:

Anderson	2,950
Bull	2,663
Davis	79
Strickler	56
Reed	20
Horn	10
Darisch	12
Hewitt	1

Cheer after cheer arose when the result was made known, and cries for "Anderson!" "Anderson!" came from all sides. The doctor was found at his home and under serious protest was compelled to go to the hall and receive the cane. Father Byrne with a short and appropriate speech, handed the cane to Mrs. Lucy Wright, who, in turn, [illegible] Dr. Anderson. He, in response, stated that he was much surprised at the result of the vote, as he was not aware that he was among the popular candidates. His acknowledgment of the gift was brief but pointed, and it was received with cheers by those assembled.

The fair committee realized $668.90 from the contest. Remember that this is the closing night of the fair.

A RARE TREAT.

What Can be Expected from the Fun on the Bristol Company.

At the opera house to-night that so much talked of musical oddity called "Fun on the Bristol" will be produced by Jarrett & Rice's company. Of the company it can be said that it is an exceptionally fine one, the cast being composed of picked musicians and character actors. There is not traveling on the road to-day a company on which the journals of the east have lavished more unreserved praise than that which the "Fun on the Bristol" company enjoys. Not only has the press of the east commended them highly, but that of the west has also joined in giving them the praise they so much deserve. From our neighboring journal, the Pueblo Chieftain, we take the following flattering notice of their appearance in that city:

The largest and most fashionable house ever assembled in Pueblo greeted the first appearance of Jarrett & Rice's celebrated Fun on the Bristol. To give anything like a description of this truly original musical comedy is almost impossible. It presents so many attractions, both dramatic and operatic that to particularize would be out of the question at the late hour of writing this notice. The company is composed of the very best talent in the country and each artist is a bright, particular star in their various roles. Mr. Sheridan, as the widow O'Brien, is simply immense, and he was greeted with the utmost enthusiastic applause from first to last.

Mr. De Lorme is possessed of one of the finest tenor voices it has been our privilege to hear for some time, and his scene from "Trovatore" would have reflected credit on the best opera companies that make this famous scene a specialty. Miss Lula Evans is a charming vocalist and actress, while Miss Daniels, as "Dora," was equally successful. To sum up, "Fun on the Bristol" made an immense hit, and standing room will be at a premium to-night. It is an artillery of wit that keeps firing from the rise to the fall of the curtain, interspersed with the most exquisite music, grotesque dancing and a variety of fun, freak, folly, farce and foibles, that is out of our power to review or describe. We can only say, secure seats in time.

AGAIN IN LUCK.

Another Important Strike at Ruby Camp by Colorado Springs Parties.

During the past two weeks there has been considerable excitement at Ruby Camp over the repeated discoveries of immensely rich bodies of ore in the Ruby Chief and Forest Queen mines. Now comes the report of some exceedingly rich development in the Blue Bird lode, a property owned by Messrs. E. M. De LaVergne, J. F. Seldomridge and George L. Curtis, and other parties residing in Jersey City. The Gunnison News-Democrat prints a long and very flattering account of the new discovery from which we glean the following:

The strike is in the Blue Bird lode, situated on the hill which divides Elk and Independence basins, and is not far from the Venango and Blind King tunnels, being further up the hill. The claim was not a very promising one at first, and the owners were compelled to sink fifty or sixty feet before they found anything worth speaking about. At that depth, however, the ore began to come in much better, and the owners were encouraged to go ahead with renewed vigor. A small force of men had been kept at work all winter, and the owners, Messrs. DeLaVergne and others, were rewarded a few days since by coming upon a solid body of mineral eighteen inches wide. This was at a depth of eighty-five feet. At that point the vein is six feet wide, and the pay streak is as solid and perfect as one could ask to see. The mineral carries ruby and native silver in large quantities. A mill run of the ore from the full width of the pay streak was taken out and sent to the sampling works of Messrs. Rose, Reed & Co., and gave a return of 291 ounces to the ton. Considering that the ore was not sorted at all, but was sent to the mill just as it came from the mine, and included ore from the full width of the pay streak, the returns are quite wonderful, and the owners have good reason to think themselves in luck.

The same claim could have been bought last fall for a very little money, but the present strike places it among the producing mines of the camp. But few outsiders have been down in the shaft since the discovery was made, but those few are enthusiastic over what they saw, and say the pay streak is perfectly solid and well defined, and the walls are as perfect and smooth as could be wished. As stated before, this claim is located on the rim of Elk basin, above the Venango and Blind King, and with the Forest Queen and Ruby Chief, perfects the chain of rich mines which extends from one end of the camp to the other. But three men have been at work so far, as the owners were not able to hire help, but now that the ore can be made to pay for development, the force will be increased as rapidly as possible.

The vein has not yet been reached in either the Venango or Blind King, and the progress of the work is watched with the closest interest by the miners of the camp. Mr. Copley, the owner of the Venango, stated last Saturday night that he thought the tunnel was within five or six feet of the vein, and that the latter would be reached within a few days. The Venango mine worked a considerable number of men last spring and summer, and was one of the best producing mines of the camp. The water began coming so fast, however, that the work had to be stopped, and the owners then started a new tunnel several hundred feet further down the mountain for the double purpose of cutting the vein at a much lower depth, and at the same time draining the mine. The tunnel was started last summer, and the work has been kept up on it steadily since. If a rich vein is found in the tunnel it will be of immense importance to the camp as being another disproof of the absurd stories that have been circulated [illegible]

Mr Blaine will soon speak again more definitely in regard to the Shepherd correspondence which we publish this morning.

The New York papers are just now very abusive of each other. They cannot with taste now speak of the "amenities of western journalism."

Some anti Blaine influence is bringing out this Shepherd correspondence. Mr Blaine will handle the matter so as to give himself still greater popularity.

"Moss Agate," the Washington correspondent of the Denver Republican has interviewed Judge Belford on the arid land bill. He says he will not urge the bill to a vote at present.

When the arrears of pension bills passed Senator Ingalls thought it would cost $18,400,000. He now says it will cost over $1,200,000,000. He made a mistake in his estimate of only $1 182 000 000.

The apportionment bill which just passed the house gives Colorado one representative, and this is all we can have until 1890. According to this apportionment Texas gains 6, Kansas 4, Minnesota 2, Nebraska 2, Michigan 2, Iowa 2, California 2, and Arkansas, Georgia, Illinois, Kentucky, Massachusetts, Mississippi, Missouri, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, Ohio, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, Virginia, West Virginia and Wisconsin 1 each. Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont each lose a representative. These states have all they are entitled to. To have given Maine the old representation, it would have been necessary to have increased the size of the house to nearly 400 members. Vermont would not be justly entitled to her present representation in a house of under 450 members.

We publish dispatches this morning giving an account of the persecution of the Jews in Russia which will intensify the bitter indignation felt toward the Russians for their treatment of the Jews. That generals in the army should stand by and see such cruelty practiced is hard to believe. It does not speak well for their chivalry or manliness. A few years ago Russia was winning the sympathy of the best political elements in the world. Her freeing of the serfs and her efforts in behalf of the persecuted Christians in Bulgaria led the world to think that Russia had passed entirely out of her barbaric life into a life in sympathy with the most civilized nations. But her persecutions of the Jews have removed all such impressions and put her almost back into the middle ages. No civilized government would allow its soldiers to stand by and see such cruelty as was practiced before the eyes of the Russian soldiers.

The political situation, so far as Colorado is concerned, is thus given in the Washington correspondence of the Chicago Inter Ocean: "The city has a large representation from Colorado, the latest arrival being ex Mayor Sifes, of Denver, who wants the United States marshalship. The place is a very fat one, worth all the way from $15,000 to $20,000 a year. It is generally conceded that Marshal Wilcox, the incumbent, will be retired as soon as Senators Teller and Hill and Representative Belford can agree on his successor. The prominent applicants are: Mr Cooper, of the Denver Republican, formerly of Jefferson City; Capt J T Blake, the leading republican of Chaffee county, formerly of Kansas City, General McNeely, of Silver Cliff, and Mr Galloway of the San Juan county. Belford and Hill are reported to be in favor of any one of those named if Teller will pick out the winner, but the last named senator is acting with great caution, as the next legislature will fill his seat, and the gentleman desires to be his own successor."

The absurdity of the Gazette's charge that Senator Teller has been trying to obstruct the passage of the bills introduced by Senator Hill is shown by the letter from the Herald's Washington correspondent, which states that the entire delegation is united in the effort to push them through.—[Leadville Herald.

Are they absurd? The resolution of inquiry whether further legislation was necessary to open the Ute reservation was introduced by Senator Teller after Senator Hill's bill to open the reservation had been introduced. His object plainly was to delay Senator Hill's bill and he accomplished his object. The resolution was answered and now the matter stands as at first. Had this resolution not been introduced, Senator Hill's bill would have passed the senate weeks ago. The delay is dangerous. The bill will not pass the senate for some days and will go to the house when there is a press of business and it may not be considered. If it is put off for another session it will greatly embarrass our miners.

In our issue of January 25 we published a brief account of an exciting debate in the German reichstag, the day before, when Bismarck asked the Left if any one dared call him coward. Dr Haenel had made a severe speech in opposition to the Rescript, in which he had said that Bismarck was attempting to protect himself by representing it as the will of the king." The scene that followed is thus described:

Thereupon the chancellor spoke. The king, he said, though at peace with his people, [illegible] was not contented with ill feeling. Looking toward the Opposition, he said further: "You [illegible] by these manoeuvres to transfer to the king his rights of government, and thereby render him powerless, politically speaking. The king and the Prussian parliament form the laws. A minister without power does not exist. [illegible] naturally opposed to friendly intercourse between the monarch and his people [illegible] a course would be [illegible] The king is [illegible] to have his rights [illegible] and the [illegible] I [illegible] signed the Rescript. I am accused of shielding myself behind the king. That would be a cowardly act. There is nothing of true [illegible] affect [illegible] under the [illegible] is the Opposition."

At this point commenced a scene such as the reichstag had probably never witnessed. The chancellor, while speaking these words, advanced from his place [illegible] directly [illegible] of the Extreme Left, and said in a loud voice: "The untruthfulness of your statements, that I am a coward, should make you blush to the roots of your hair." Then followed amidst the greatest excitement cries from the Left denying the truth of the assertion. The president called them to order, but fresh cries were heard. The chancellor said, "You gentlemen on the Left appear to reiterate your statements." Loud cries of "No, no." Prince Bismarck turned around and said, in great excitement, "You may thank God." Tremendous noise followed. Prince Bismarck said, "I remain only at the royal wish. Otherwise I would willingly resign." The chancellor closed by saying that the emperor would not permit himself to be robbed of his rights. [illegible] speak to his people and that he (Prince Bismarck) would uphold the royal prerogative [illegible] as [illegible] Haenel said he had [illegible] accused the chancellor of cowardice. The prince then said: "If you did not directly you did at least indirectly."

The Junior Senator

Silver Cliff [illegible]

Senator Hill seems to have strengthened his popularity in the southern part of the state of late. The junior senator is making a good record.

Should Bury the Bill

Leadville Herald

There is no necessity for any further discussion of Mr Belford's bill for the leasing of desert lands. The parties who are mainly interested have thoroughly dissected it, and are unanimous in the opinion that it is impracticable. Mr Belford in deference to the wishes of those of his constituents whom he was doubtless most anxious to serve should bury the bill in committee.

Christine Nilsson's Husband

London World, Feb 1

The thunderbolt which fell upon Mme Nilsson on Wednesday last may easily be imagined. Her husband said to her: "My Christine, you must now sell all your property in America and England. I have a plan that will render us immensely rich!" and she replied, "Tu es fou [illegible]" Whereupon he jumped up, seized both her wrists, and said: "Mad! but look into your looking glass Christine. You are mad. Your eyes are staring out of your head. You must absolutely try to get calm. I'll send for the doctor!" Of course, she could then not doubt what had happened, all the more that it was not the first time he had had a similar attack. When they were in America, suddenly an idee fixe occupied his mind—he could speak of nothing, but then she kept him at home, away from every possible excitement, and by great care cured him. She tried again now. Five days and five nights she never left him. During all this time he never shut an eye, speaking continually, quietly and excitedly about the millions which he was certain to make. The worst is that the disease is in the family, an uncle and a cousin of his having died mad. But until now, at last, M Rouzaud is calm, he only insisted that his wife, under his dictation, should write the whole night the plan of his new bank. During the last forty eight hours not only he did not sleep but he neither ate nor drank and no opiate had any effect upon him. It may not be amiss here to state that he never touched Mme Nilsson's money, for any speculation in fact he did not speculate himself, he was a partner of an "agent de change," and the remises brought to his share from £4,000 to £6,000 a year. Mme Nilsson, when she married, and gave up singing in France, had about £80,000 earned in Europe and America, of which, however, through unproductive speculation, she lost very nearly half. Not entirely, because her American properties seem now to revive, any way, she has the income of at least £10,000. Her husband was transferred to the house of Dr Goujon, in whose house alone during last week four [illegible] were brought. M Rouzaud although quite ignorant of the place where he is kept, and continually complaining that not letting him come out makes him lose a fortune is, according to the testimony of the doctor much better.

News from Jupiter

N Y Sun

Jupiter is the largest body in the solar system except the sun itself, and exceeds the earth in volume about 1,300 times. The girth of the earth at the equator is in round numbers 24 000 miles. Jupiter's equatorial girdle measures 267,000 miles. But Jupiter is light in proportion to his size. His specific gravity is a little less than that of water. Therefore, if we can imagine an ocean big enough to try the experiment, Jupiter dropped into it would not sink. The belts of Jupiter are well known phenomena. They are among the first objects upon which the amateur astronomer, who has happily become the possessor of a telescope, tries its powers, and there is probably nothing else in the whole heavens that he views so frequently and with so much satisfaction. Yet, although astronomers have been watching these belts and beholding the wonderful changes that take place in their appearance for more than two hundred years, they have not succeeded in satisfactorily explaining them. Within a few months, however, a great deal of light has been thrown upon this subject.

About four years ago the astronomical world was interested in the appearance upon Jupiter's southern hemisphere of a huge red spot, some twenty five or thirty thousand miles long and seven or eight thousand broad. Half a dozen theories were advanced to account for this appearance. Some said it was an opening in the cloud choked atmosphere of Jupiter, showing the red hot ball of the planet beneath; others, observing its permanence of form, supposed it to be a portion of the solid body of the planet heaved up and thrust through the vaporous envelope—a precipitous and fiery continent. Still others imagined it to be an enormous slag floating on the molten surface of the planet. Most astronomers, however, preferred to wait for more facts before forming theories. This spot has remained visible ever since, and anybody can see it with a good telescope of two inches aperture. It was soon perceived that the spot moved slightly faster than the rest of the luminous disk. Supposing it to be a part of the more solid body of the planet, observations were made upon it to determine the time of Jupiter's rotation. The result obtained was about nine hours fifty five minutes and thirty five seconds, showing that this great globe is whirling around its axis twenty five times as fast as the earth.

Recently another phenomenon, not so conspicuous but even more wonderful than the red spot has been perceived on Jupiter. This is a brilliant white spot which sometimes appears upward of five thousand miles in diameter, and at other times is almost invisible. It moves faster than the red spot, going around in about nine hours and fifty minutes, so that in forty four or forty five days it makes a complete circuit of the planet with respect to the red spot. There is reason to think that the white spot has been visible at times ever since the summer of 1878 although it has only recently attracted special attention. Mr Denning of England who has devoted much study to the subject thinks that this spot shines with its own light and that it is a part of or a projection from the actual surface of the planet. That being the case, of course it is to be depended upon for determining the rotation period of the planet rather than the red spot, the speed of which has begun to slacken. Once in about fifty six days the luminous spot fades until it is barely perceptible and when it brightens again its speed is slightly increased. Now comes a very interesting observation. On New Year's night Mr Denning observed that the spot was almost invisible, and it remained in that condition for several days. A big cloud had hidden it. This cloud had been observed from the time of its formation in Jupiter's atmosphere on Dec 11. It was then some distance behind the white spot but as it moved with even greater velocity than the spot, it overtook and obscured it. Other dark roundish masses like clouds have been observed rising along the belts [illegible] themselves [illegible] on either side of the equator. In this way an entirely new belt has been formed. From the behavior of these clouds there can be little doubt that we actually see them rising from the hidden recesses of the planet, and gradually spreading as they enter the upper portion of the atmosphere. This may account for the existence of the belts which seem to be kept up by a supply from beneath. Imagine a line of enormous volcanoes stretching along near the earth's equator, and constantly pouring into the atmosphere vast [illegible] of thick black smoke. The band that this smoke would make around the earth as viewed from another planet would perhaps resemble the belts of Jupiter. But the resemblance cannot be carried any further, for we have no information as to the source or nature of the dark clouds on Jupiter, and they may arise from a difference of heat. As to the luminous spot at present no one can say what it is or why it shines so brightly. Yet there is certainty, an attention to detail, and an evident progress in the observation now being made which gives strong hope that the next news from Jupiter may go far to clear up the mystery and enable us to understand the true mechanism of nature in that distant and gigantic world.

Mercury

New York Star [illegible]

The swift moving planet Mercury is now distinctly seen on clear nights about six o'clock. It moves so fast that it is a difficult subject for study, even with the telescope. Just now it wears a golden colored aspect somewhat different from its usual silvery appearance. It is a small planet, only three thousand miles thick, which accounts for the apparent feebleness of its light, which is really very intense, only there is not much of it. It is quite the sun—[illegible] 35,000,000 of miles off—that [illegible] must be [illegible] upon it. It is an eccentric little body plunging about in its orbit like an untrained colt in the circuit of a race track, but one of the fastest planets of our system. In fact it goes over its course at the rate of a hundred thousand miles an hour and makes the round trip in eighty eight days. It does not fancy the people of northern [illegible] Europe and seldom shows itself to them but has no objections to American stargazing, and has taken our astronomers into its confidence sufficiently to show that it passes through phases similar to the moon, has an atmosphere, presents an uneven surface, has four years to our one, but on the whole is not the sort of place for such an explosive and combustible person as Mr Blaine to emigrate to.

A System of Sewerage for Colorado Springs.

II.

BY [illegible]

In the disposal and utilization of sewage, [illegible] two systems [illegible] approved [illegible]. The [illegible] complete [illegible] filtration [illegible] of sewage [illegible] surface, but [illegible] terms [illegible] explain themselves. [illegible] the two may be [illegible]. The best results [illegible] of the two plans.

INTERMITTENT DOWNWARD FILTRATION.

The soil most suitable for filtration is a sandy loam with a [illegible] proportion of gritty gravel. The most desirable soils are [illegible] clays, [illegible] coarse gravels. The soil [illegible] of the character in order that its [illegible] the sewage [illegible] through them in a finely divided state. In this way the sewage is oxidized and [illegible] of its impurities. The land [illegible] for filtration is divided into [illegible]. The sewage [illegible] applied continuously to any one piece of ground, but each area is treated in turn. In this way intermittency of application [illegible]. During the interval [illegible] the soil has [illegible] and become [illegible] [illegible] its quantum of sewage [illegible] the land and the [illegible] receiving the sewage will be [illegible].

[illegible] IRRIGATION.

A [illegible] for [illegible]. The [illegible] fairly prepared for irrigation [illegible].

[illegible] sewage is [illegible] and then the land [illegible] vegetation [illegible]. In fact it is probably better to distribute the sewage in furrows so that it may not touch the vegetation [illegible]. The [illegible] well drained [illegible].

Intermittent [illegible] serves as a safety valve [illegible] the intermittent [illegible].

AN EXAMPLE OF SEWAGE FARMING.

[illegible] of sewage farming [illegible] works [illegible]. The [illegible] bluff with [illegible] to the [illegible] 3000 gallons [illegible].

[illegible] A main carrier drain with [illegible] has been laid [illegible], and secondary [illegible] parallel distribution of the liquid distributed over the surface of the ground.

The filtration area [illegible] in a series of terraces [illegible] being on a perfect level [illegible] furrows [illegible] through them, while the smaller branch furrows [illegible] right angles to the main ones. The main furrows are deeper than the branch furrows, in order that they may receive the solid matter floating in the sewage, which will deposit itself in them, and allow the liquid to be distributed by the branch furrows through the soil. This solid matter, or "sludge," is allowed to partially dry in the furrows during the interval when the sewage is being withheld from the area in question. The sludge is then lifted and dug into the ridges and thus incorporated with the natural soil. The intermediate ground between the furrows is planted with vegetables the roots of which help themselves to what they require of the sewage, and yield large crops.

The terraces are so arranged that each terrace can receive its quantum of sewage separately from the rest. After each has received its supply, the sewage is turned on to the other terraces.

The irrigation fields are prepared differently from the filtration areas. The sewage is distributed [illegible] the "catch water" system. The distributing carriers follow the natural contour of the land. When filled, the sewage overflows their edge and runs down the natural slope to the next carrier, which in turn is filled to overflowing. The whole is in charge of a farmer who controls and distributes the sewage in suitable quantities.

There is no odor whatever to be noticed at a distance of 10 yards from the farm.

The effluent water is clear and is found by analysis to be far purer than the chemists' standards require.

After deducting the interest on the money expended in buying and preparing the land, and also the expense of working the farm, there remained a net profit of $100 from the sale of the first year's produce.

PROFITS OF SEWAGE FARMING.

All the sewage farms in England yield a profit, the profits varying within certain limits. The farm at Edinburgh is 200 acres in extent, all in grass and yields 30 tons of hay per acre, the grass being cut three or four times a year. On other farms, cabbages, mangolds, carrots and parsnips are grown. The majority of vegetables and also [illegible] [illegible] by the application of sewage [illegible]. Probably [illegible] would be the best crop for sewage farms in Colorado. At an average price of $20 per ton, an acre of ground would clear from $300 to $400 per year, the expense of working the farm not being large when once the land is prepared and the drains are laid.

George B Rice

Recently Mr Geo B Rice returned to his old home in Cambridge, Massachusetts, after finding that it was impossible for him to regain his health. Failures

NEW YORK, February 17.—R G Dunn & Co [illegible] report [illegible] failures for the week, a somewhat greater number than last week, the increase being of speculative failures in grain and cotton principally in New Orleans and Chicago. In New York the principal failure was [illegible] Hardy & Co, shipping and commission, which is enveloped in mystery. It is not known what they owe or what their assets will be, and Hardy has not put in an appearance since the failure. His debts are mostly abroad. The distribution of failures is [illegible]: Eastern states [illegible], Western [illegible], Southern 45, Middle 21, Pacific coast and territories 13, New York city 10.

Presidential Attentions

OMAHA & DENVER SHORT LINE.

Its Convenience to Colorado Business Men.

Commencing Sunday, November 6, 1881, the Union Pacific company will run a fast Omaha express through between Denver and Omaha daily, over the recently constructed Julesburg cut-off

Leaving Denver (breakfast)	8 00 a m
Arrive at Sterling (dinner)	1 30 p m
Arrive at North Platte	7 30 p m
Arrive at Omaha	7 30 a m
Arrive at Council Bluffs (breakfast)	8 00 a m
Arrive at Chicago (Chicago time)	6 30 a m

Time, Denver to Omaha, twenty three and one half hours, time, Denver to Chicago, forty six hours

This new route is 160 miles shorter than any rival, six hours the quickest to Omaha, seven to fifteen hours the quickest to Chicago, St. Louis and all points east, and it runs the finest trains ever built, constructed by the Pullman company expressly for this line. They embody every feature of safety, convenience and luxury yet attained in railway equipment. It is the only through line possessing a water grade across the plains (averaging less than ten feet to the mile). It is the most picturesque route, has the best dining stations, the heaviest steel rails, best iron bridges and most careful ballasting.

Passengers from Leadville, Gunnison, San Juan and all points in southern Colorado make close connection in the Union depot, Denver, and arrive in Chicago and all eastern cities soon to have a full day for business on the day of arrival, practically saving from twelve to twenty four hours, and avoiding all night changes.

Meantime the old Kansas Pacific route, now Kansas division Union Pacific railway, to Kansas City and all points east and southeast, and the Pioneer Union Pacific route from Denver, via Cheyenne, to Omaha and the east and northeast, maintain their usual standard of excellence. Tickets via Cheyenne are good over the new route, or vice versa. 1-28-tf

"Fun on the Bristol" at the opera house to-night. Secure your seats early at Howbert Bros.

Chief Pixley was last night the lucky winner of a fine breech loading rifle at a raffle in Walker's billiard hall.

On next Monday night a social dance will be given in Court House hall under the auspices of the young gentlemen of the Catholic society.

Col J Martin Schenck, the gentlemanly and popular representative of Messrs Daniels & Fisher, is in the city calling on his many customers.

A large amount of north end property has changed hands during the past week. Suitable lots on North Weber street are especially in demand.

Reserved seats for the "Fun on the Bristol" matinee can be had at the Opera House box-office this afternoon. Admission 75 cents, children 50 cents.

Judge Bentley, who has been confined to the house for some time by an attack of sickness, is again able to be about. He resumed work in his office yesterday.

No company that ever visited Colorado has been accorded a warmer reception than that which has been extended to Jarrett & Rice's "Fun on the Bristol" company.

Craig, the artist, is now engaged in placing the finishing touches on a life size painting in oil of Dr Kimball. He has also just completed a Chillian landscape for Dr C F Edwards.

Mr Elbert F Madin returned Thursday night from a four weeks visit to friends in Iowa and Nebraska. He reports a very enjoyable time, as it was the first trip he has taken east in years.

Morris Sommer has leased the Pike's Peak Driving Park on the Manitou road and will take possession at once. He promises some interesting races and other amusements during the coming season.

Mr L B O Brien business manager of the Phosa McAllister company, was in the city yesterday arranging for the appearance of his company here at an early date. Miss McAllister is a prime favorite in Colorado, especially at Leadville and Denver.

Mr Henry C Jarrett, of Jarrett & Rice's Fun on the Bristol company came up from the south yesterday afternoon and is registered at the Colorado Springs hotel. Mr Jarrett was formerly of Messrs Jarrett & Palmer, the well known New York theatrical managers.

The fire alarm system heretofore referred to in the GAZETTE seems to be meeting with approval on the part of many of our citizens and the probabilities are that efforts will be made to have it put in effect. We understand that Mr. F. O Vaille will present a proposition at the next meeting of the city council.

Round trip tickets to the Mardi Gras carnival at Pueblo to-day will be on sale at the depot this morning for the 11 45 a m train. The price of the round trip tickets will be $2 70, good to return on any train up to and including February 19. A jolly time is anticipated, and the reduced fare offered by the Denver and Rio Grande will probably induce many to attend.

At the conclusion of the "Fun on the Bristol" company's engagement in this city, Mr S N Nye will succeed Mr A S Welch as manager of the opera house, the latter gentleman being compelled to relinquish the duties of manager on account of other business cares which demand his entire attention. Mr Nye has resided in Colorado Springs for some time and is well known by many of our citizens. He has had an extended experience in theatrical affairs, having for years managed one of the leading opera houses in Ohio. His familiarity with the profession will give him an advantage in the selection of attractions. It is his intention to at once confer with Manager Bush of the Colorado circuit and provide for the appearance here of all the leading novelties of the season. He will assume all contracts heretofore made.

Yesterday the Chinamen of Colorado Springs, numbering in all about thirty, celebrated their Chinese New Years in a right royal manner. All excepting those who worked in the hotel laundries abandoned work entirely and devoted the day to social enjoyment. In many of the wash houses lunches consisting of Chinese victuals, candies, rice whisky etc, were spread upon side tables and all visitors were invited to partake. Shortly before noon all the Chinamen assembled on the unoccupied ground west of Cascade avenue and discharged a large number of fire crackers and bombs which they had procured for the occasion. In the evening, by the light of their New Year candles they sipped their whisky and smoked their opium and otherwise enjoyed themselves.
